Background: As stated in the official application form on the above web-site: Since 1993, the awards have recognized the outstanding efforts of students and teachers across the country who are working at the grass-roots level to protect and preserve the environment.

Eligibility: Students at all U.S. schools are eligible. Projects must be sponsored by a formally recognized school group, such as a grade level, classroom or club. Public, private and licensed home schools are all eligible to apply. Individual students (i.e. science fair projects) and previous award-winning schools are not eligible to apply.

Requirements and Selection Process: See above web-site for specific criteria.
